Hart Damper
with Chain Control

POKER CONTROL

This illustration shows the type of control recommended where the mantel is of tile or marble, or when for other reasons the owner does not wish to have a handle extending through the front of the fireplace. An attachment to the operating mechanism with a loop at the end permits the damper to be positively and accurately controlled by inserting a poker through the loop. This attachment, being adjustable vertically, can be so regulated that no part of the control need be visible.

both sides for greater strength, and being removable, permits easy access to the chimney for cleaning or other purposes when necessary.

Hart Dome Dampers, being provided with three different methods of control, permit positive regulation of the draft, thus promoting economical fireplace operation. Much of the heat that would ordinarily escape through the flue is thrown out into the room.

ROTARY CONTROL

The damper blade is fitted with a gear mechanism, positive in operation, to which is attached a long steel rod, (which can be cut to the proper length) which comes through the front of the fireplace, to which a regulating handle is fitted. This handle is the only visible part of the mechanism. A popular and very satisfactory control. This control permits the damper to be held in any position desired by the operator.

with Rotary Control

CHAIN CONTROL

With this type of control, the damper blade is regulated by means of two chains. By pulling the chain marked "O" the damper blade is opened, and closed by pulling the chain marked "C".

The three types of controls are interchangeable. To illustrate: A Hart Dome Damper fitted with a rotary control mechanism, can be provided with either of the other two types of controls without the need of ordering a complete new damper. All Dampers given one coat Rust-Proof Grey Paint.

GARDEN FURNITURE

Cast Iron—Benches, Chairs, Tables, Vases, Foot Scrapers and Hitching Posts

Betsy Ross Bench

Some of the benches, chairs and tables in this line are replicas of rare old pieces of the early colonial days.

The demand for this class of merchandise is increasing daily.

The beauty of a garden or lawn lies in its completeness—in the touches which add so much to its general charm. Lacking them, most gardens and lawns remain merely "on the verge" of being beautiful.

Often the needed touch is found in a bench, settee, chair or table—and when this is true you will find exactly the "piece for the place" in the HART line of All Cast Iron Garden Furniture.
